

P. R. "OPENING"

BRIGHTENING WINTER DAYS.

The wintry scene without makes the Palais Royal "Opening" the more inviting. The prospective summer girl of 1904 is here—picking out the daintiest of dress materials. She is enraptured with the new Organdies.

36c 18c 9c

Best of new French Organdies, in correctly large fruit and flower designs, are a price surprise at 36c yard... 18c for the new 25c American Organdies and 9c for the 12 1/2c quality... With the saving in cost and the advantage of first choice, the prospective summer girl of 1904 is in her glory—on this second floor of the Palais Royal... Overhead this morning: "I'll have my dresses made up now, use them for evening and later for outdoor wear."

"Opening" Souvenirs in Lace Department.

5c 10c 98c
10c Lace. 20c Lace. $1.50 Lace.

In gathering the new $50,000 stock of Laces the "buyer" had his eye open for just such bargains as now offered. Five cents a yard generally means trashy laces—these are best 10c laces for 5c. Usual 20c quality is only 10c yard. The 18-inch Lace All-over at 98c a yard are still better bargains.

Ribbon Girdle Belts Are the Latest.

MADE TO ORDER HERE.

And a new $20,000 stock of Ribbons is here. Some of the art effects are surprisingly fine,—the new floral ribbons, for instance. And note that 50c and 68c will buy the best of these new 75c and 98c ribbons,—the "buyer" saw them at the latter prices in New York's most exclusive stores.

NEW EMBROIDERIES.

10c, 13c, 19c,
WORTH 20c TO 40c.

The new $15,000 stock is supplemented with the maker's sample pieces. These are bargains that can come but once a year. The year's distribution will end only too soon.

NEW TRIMMINGS.

APPEAL TO CONGRESS

ADVOCATES OF GOOD ROADS BEFORE THE COMMITTEES.

Brief Session of Organization Held This Morning—Address by Mr.

George H. Maxwell.

After a session at the Raleigh Hotel lasting only about half an hour this morning, the committee representing the good roads advocates of the country adjourned for the day, in order to have time to present its cause to the committee on agriculture of the Senate and the same committee of the House of Representatives. Before adjourning for this purpose, however, a short address was made to the delegates by George H. Maxwell of Chicago, executive chairman of the National Irrigation Association. Mr. Maxwell stated that he was heartily in favor of the present movement to secure national control of the roads of the United States through a bureau proposed to be established in connection with the Department of Agriculture, or in some other adequate manner.

An invitation was extended for the meeting of the Good Roads Association in Portland, Ore., in 1905.

No business was transacted at the session. In fact, aside from the organization and election of officers, there is little to be done but to call upon the members of Congress and the President to urge the carrying out of the plan. The first part of this program was carried out yesterday afternoon, and the call is being made today or will be made last night. This will leave little business for the final session, which will be held tomorrow morning in the ball of the Raleigh.

Subcommittee at White House.

A subcommittee called at the White House this morning to arrange for the reception of the entire committee later in the day. The President will receive all the members at 4 o'clock. The delegates went before the Senate committee on agriculture and forestry at 10:30 o'clock this morning. At 2 o'clock they called upon the House committee on agriculture.

This morning every state but twelve had a representative here, and there were also men representing large commercial and industrial interests.

Addresses Yesterday Afternoon.

Senator Lattimer of South Carolina and Representative Brownlow of Tennessee, who introduced good roads bills in Congress, addressed the delegates yesterday afternoon, and each urged them not to favor any special bill, but to stand solid for government aid to the good roads movement, and to strive for a law whereby the government would acquire a third, if not one-half, of the total cost of betterment of the public highways. Senator Lattimer said he and Representative Brownlow were of different politics, and that politics should be eliminated from the question. He urged the delegates to say to Congress that the plan of the farmers, who are seeking government aid, and if Congressmen opposed the good roads movement he urged the delegates to defeat them at the polls.

Secretary Wilson made a brief address, in which he told what the Agricultural Department had done in the way of gathering and disseminating information as to road building. He said the time had come when Congress should enact laws for the betterment of the public highways, and he promised that the department would stand energetically and efficiently any law on the subject that Congress passed.
